

The TKSV Learner Profile

Our 4 Rs

Readiness- Academic and personal readiness for school and the next stages of your life at university and beyond in the 21st Century. Showing enthusiasm and a passion for the activities you do.

Resilience- Thriving with challenges, reacting to adversity with equanimity, thinking critically and not impulsively in any given situation. Overcoming your fears.

Respect- Acting with kindness, fairness and politeness towards an individual, group of people or institution and having self-respect.

Responsibility- Acknowledging the impact of one's actions in the world and the community. Not looking to blame others, taking ownership of your actions and decisions.

And our 10 other Learner Profile Traits

Adventurous- Taking calculated risks both inside and outside the classroom, following through on commitments, making the most of your life. Developing a controlled fearlessness in situations where you might not be immediately comfortable.

Analytical- Thinking critically, being able to distinguish facts from fiction, the ability to synthesise when researching, seeing different sides of an argument, being able to come to reasoned/evidenced conclusions

Articulate- The ability to communicate with concision and clarity- especially when conversing with an individual or in a group. Good public speaker/presenter. Clear and concise in written English, Khmer and Mandarin.

Creative- Thinking outside the box, the ability and energy to innovate, adapt and improve, and invent. Blue sky thinking. Pursuit of the outstanding.

Empathetic- Open-minded, understanding of others, the ability to respect and understand other people's viewpoints, supporting others in need, not being close-minded and just assuming because the view is yours it is correct.

Globally Minded- knowledgeable about the world we live in- its geography, economy, history, different cultures, religions and races. Respectful and empathetic towards different ways of thinking and approaches across the world, while retaining core values.

Humility- Not overplaying your own success, never showing off, respecting others and never looking down on people because they are poorer, less able or less fortunate than you. Using your privileged position to support people who are unfortunate, poor or suffer in some way. Service in leadership.

Independent- Not having to rely on others all the time, standing on one's own two feet, getting things done on one's own, being able to drive your own future, confidence to stand up for oneself, developing a controlled fearlessness because of confidence in one's own ability

Integrity- Standing up for what is right, having a set of values/ethics/morals that you stand by that includes sticking up for others, honesty and leading a balanced life that works by supporting you as well as those around you.

Kind- Being polite, supportive, caring and compassionate to other people. Keeping one's calm, even in frustration and speaking/communicating to others in a way that is supportive, respecting other people's reputations. Being nice to animals and to your environment.